

Academic Conversational Danish

Become comfortable speaking Danish at your job

The lessons will be based on the participants' needs to use spoken Danish and to feel more secure in speaking Danish at their workplace professionally as well as when small talking with colleagues.

The participants and teacher decide together on what topics should be covered e.g. participating in staff meetings or discussing work environment in the academic world. The participants will also prepare small presentations about their research and present in Danish to the rest of the group. There will be questions, feedback, and the rest of the group will help discuss the research to develop the Danish vocabulary in that specific field. We will also discuss more general topics by reading and focusing on current news.

Structure of the course

The course includes 4 lessons in total: Monday and Wednesday both days 2pm-3.30pm in week 27. In preparation for each day, the participants are expected to spend 30 minutes on e.g. reading articles or watching a news show.

Price

The course costs 900 kr.

Practical information

We will strive to meet physically for the course; however, it will depend on the given corona situation and restrictions. To enter the course, you are expected to already speak a certain level of Danish – perhaps you have passed your PD3. However, if you feel like you still need more vocabulary and fluency to express yourself at your workplace, then this course is meant for you.
